SHOCKEY NEWSLETTER NO. 32

Dear Friends and Shockey Cousins,

I used to have the newsletter finished by this time. It seems like I slow down more every year. Actually, I hardly know how to start or what to say first. This has been a year we can never forget. Fires, floods, hurricanes and tornadoes; our country has really been hit hard in 2005. I know that many of our cousins have had their lives changed forever. I have tried to contact some of those in Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas and Florida. I did get some answers, but many of my letters have gone unanswered. I am sure some of the addresses don't even exist any more. My daughter-in-law, Donna Shockey worked a month in Mississippi and I think she plans to go back for another month. I thought the working conditions might be a little rough for her, but she did just fine. It will take many years to erase the marks of devastation that our country suffered this past year.

I want to thank all of the folks who have sent cards, letters, made phone calls and sent in contributions for the newsletter. It is your continued support that keeps it going. It is hard to realize that this is 32 years that we have been having reunions and mailing out newsletters. I never thought it would go this far.

The 2006 reunion will be held in Winchester/Shockeysville from 29 June up to or through July 4th. I have reserved 30 rooms at Red Roof Inn in Winchester, Virginia at the intersection of I-81 and Route 50. Those who have attended before will be familiar with that area. The cost of the rooms is $53.00 plus tax. The number to call for reservations is 1-540-667-5000. Mention Shockey Reunion to get the group rate.

Make your reservations early. I forgot to ask what the cut-off date was, but they always gave us until June 15th. If you need a handicap room, I think they only have one. I have requested that all of the rooms be on the first floor if at all possible. If you plan to arrive before June 29th or stay after the 4th, you need to let them know. The conference room will be ours for as long as we are there and they include a real nice continental breakfast

There are several good restaurants nearby. I think two new ones will be open by that time. I know that an Olive Garden is about ready and I understand that a Red Lobster is planned too. There is a new Shopping Center out past Wall-Mart.

I usually plan a Bus Tour on Friday. I have not finalized that yet. If I can find something interesting that we can do with a minimum of walking and a reasonable cost, it will be in another part of the newsletter.

On Saturday we will take you on the Oakland/Shockeysville tour. We plan to have sandwiches and beverages at the church at noon.

On Sunday we attend services at Shockeysville Church at 8:45 a.m. After services there is time to pay dues, buy t-shirts if you don't have one, take pictures and visit with each other until noon when we will have a catered lunch. Details of that are elsewhere in the newsletter. Either before or right after lunch, we will have the General Meeting and decide where next year's reunion will be and maybe have some Gospel Music by Rev. Isaac Luttrell and Diane.

On Monday we will offer the guided tour of the Maryland/Pennsylvania area where the Shockeyes lived. The tour will leave the motel at 10:00a.m. 'Caravan Style'. Howard will conduct the tour. Those who have done this tour many times may head for home or find some other interesting things to do. This tour is very interesting and historic, especially for those who are descended from the Shockeyes who remained in Pennsylvania.

For those who have done those tours, I will try to find something else we can do. We won't let you be bored. I know the local area pretty well. There are lots of things within an hour's drive.

The 2005 reunion was held in Hot Springs, Arkansas and hosted by David L. Shockey and his parents, Jack and Phyllis. We had a really nice place to stay and they took care of our every need. Ramona Carol Shockey came with lots of home-made cookies and snacks. They were really appreciated and enjoyed.

There is no way I could ever know for sure how many were there. They came and went all week-end. A lot of the folks lived nearby, so they would come in for a while, go home and return the next day. They didn't all sign in either, especially the ones that just came on Sunday. We fed 120 for dinner that day.

On Friday evening we went to a Country Music show and on Saturday, we 'rode the Ducks' all over town and part of the lake. We got tired, sun burned and wet feet, but our tour guide made sure we saw the town and learned its' history.

We helped a lot of folks with their family history. One lady only knew as far back as her grandfather. We filled in all of the blanks for her. David had some genealogical research that Jessica Henry had sent him from Alaska. When Les looked at it he said 'Where is that lady that was just in here, she would die for this?' She came back the next day and sure enough, it was just what she had been searching for.

We had folks from 16 states. It was the first time for at least half of them. I had met some of them at the Shockey/Arms reunion in Broken Bow, Oklahoma many years ago and some at the one in Siloam Springs about 1983. Arkansas was an excellent choice for a reunion. The only one that had the most attending was the time we had it in Texas.

As usual, I am including the coupon page which you can use for address corrections and to designate where you want your donation to go. The names and addresses of all of the officers and directors are included in this letter. You will note that there are some changes. The treasurer, John D. Shockey, resigned and Donna Porter was elected to fill that position. You can send newsletter donations to me, membership dues and other donations to Donna Porter. If you desire to make a donation to the Shockeyville Church, you can send it to Scott Luttrell, church treasurer. He is included in the list of directors.

Please keep your address updated. If I don't have the correct address, they will not deliver your newsletter. They will send it back to me and charge .70 cents (probably more this year). They sometimes include the correct address on the returned item if they have the change on file.

The cost of the newsletter goes up each year and I am sure this will be no exception. The postal service has raised the price of stamps, so I am sure they won't forget to increase the bulk mail rates. You did really well covering the cost of last year's newsletter. There was only $644.97 due me at the reunion and I was reimbursed at that time. The cost of last years newsletter was: Bulk mail permit, $150.00, Printer Labels, $44.08, Print 1,600 newsletters, $1,681.16, Mail 1457 by bulk mail and 16 to Canada, $558.08, Addrsss Corrections, 123 @ 70cents each, $86.10, mail 6 extra @ 83 cents each, $2.58. Total cost $2,522.00. Direct Donations, $1,677.00. On hand from past year, $150.03..

Our little fund raisers such as raffles and t-shirt sales do not begin to make a dent in the cost of the newsletter, so you can see how important your donations are. There are folks already asking me when they can expect theirs and it is only the second week in February. I never get it mailed until the last part of March.. It is the only link we have that can keep us in touch.

Les, Bud and Gerald work on the computer genealogy the whole year and that has to be an expense to them, but they ask for nothing. They just encourage everyone to keep sending their up-dates and other information to them. The satisfaction they get when they are able to make all of the family connections for someone seems to be all they ask for. They really have a wealth of information at their fingertips. It has taken a lot of years to get to this point. They can print out your whole family history for you and they don't charge a dime for it. They could use a 'thank you' now and then.

Don't forget to bring any additional family information to the reunion, pictures too. They will be glad to get it all recorded for you. Many years from now, someone else will be thankful that all this is available. They won't have to dig for their roots the hard way. It is a lot easier to punch a few keys than it was to dig through documents in Libraries and Court Houses and visit every old over-grown cemetery you could find. We spent years doing this and the benefits are yours for the asking

Feel free to contact any one of us at any time. We will be glad to talk to you and answer any questions that you may have. If one of us can't answer your question, we will direct you to someone who can,

Greetings from the President

March 2006

As we enter into the first part of the New Year, I hope that all is well with everyone. Our family is doing great. I am still bouncing around between jobs and companies. This January, I accepted a position with LB&B Associates, Inc. to be the Project Manager of one of their contracts at Fort Carson, CO. We expect that I will be here through at least June. Donna looking seriously about retirement this fall.

As you know the reunion this past year was in Hot Springs, AK and it was a tremendous success. There were folks from all over the states and over 100 attended the Sunday general meeting and luncheon. The reunion this year will be back in Shockeyville, VA. Hope that many of you will plan on attending.

We have had some changes in our board of directors and we are looking for interested individuals that would like to participate and make a contribution. Please do not hesitate and step forwarded, Donna Porter of Denver, CO did this past year and she is now our Treasurer. David Shockey of Arkansas did two years ago and he helped us sponsor a very successful reunion in Hot Springs, AK. New folks are always welcome.

As always, I have a special request to all of our readers to assist us by making contributions to the help support the preparation and distribution the News Letter. All Contributions, no matter how larger or small, will be greatly appreciated.

Look forward to seeing everyone at the reunion in Shockeyville, VA.

I hope that you enjoy the newsletter. My very best wishes to all.

SHOCKEY FAMILY MEMORIAL FELLOWSHIP, INC.
MINUTES OF THE GENERAL MEETING, HOT SPRINGS, ARKANSAS
SUNDAY, JULY 3, 2005

1. David F. Shockey, President, opened the meeting at 12:30 p.m. He welcomed the many folks who were in attendance. He expressed the dedication and interest shown in the family and the reunions. Folks in attendance were from all across the country.
2. Typically, Aunt Maggie's bell is rung at this time but was not available. Howard Shockey led the group in prayer, then recited the Pledge of Allegiance.
3. A big thank you went to David L. Shockey, Jack and Phyllis Shockey for hosting this year's reunion in Hot Springs. The work they did in providing meeting rooms, hotel rooms, and tours, was much appreciated.
4. After the lunch and general meeting, Marie Shockey, Les Shockey, Bud Roseberry, and Gerald Shockey will provide a discussion on the Shockey family history.
5. The board members in attendance were introduced:

David F. Shockey, President (Utah)
Marie Shockey, Director/Newsletter Editor/Genealogist (West Virginia)
Howard Shockey, Director/Chaplain (Illinois)
Lesley Shockey, Director/Computer Genealogist (West Virginia)
James "Bud" Roseberry, Director/Computer Genealogist (Idaho)
Gerald Shockey, Director/Computer Genealogist (Texas)
David L. Shockey, Director (Arkansas)
John D. Shockey, Outgoing Director/Treasurer (Ohio)
Donna J. Porter, Incoming Director/Treasurer (Colorado)
Donna P. Shockey, Secretary (Utah)

Board members not present were:

Daniel N. Shockey, Director/Vice President (Virginia)
John C. Shockey, Director/Past President (Pennsylvania)
Scott Luttrell, Director (Virginia)
Kenneth Shockey, Director/Computer Genealogist (Pennsylvania)
Walda Ann Paris, Director (Missouri)

6. Howard Shockey read the memorials of those who had passed on during the past year. He recognized that we are a growing and evolving family.
7. Donna P. Shockey read the minutes of the 2004 General Meeting, which were approved as read.
8. David F. Shockey mentioned the methods of getting family information out to folks as well as keeping the information current. Les, Bud, and Gerald continually work on gathering information and installing it in the data base. Marie Shockey collects information to be included in the annual newsletter. Everyone is encouraged to provide any news to them throughout the year. One important note is to keep your address current with Marie. It is costly when the newsletters are returned by the post office. The newsletters are an important way of keeping in touch with families. The annual reunion is an excellent method of exchanging and providing family information.

Future sites for the reunion are: Shockeyville - 2006, Parkersburg, WV - 2007
Shockeyville - 2008, Denver, Colorado - 2009

Typically the reunion is held in Shockeyville during even years and held in another location during the odd years. These are subject to change.

9. John D. Shockey presented the Treasurer's Report. The ending balance as of June 30, 2005 was $3,195.00. Motion was made and approved to accept the financial report.

John has submitted his resignation as Treasurer. He will turn all the financial records over to Donna J. Porter, who has accepted the position.

10. Marie Shockey presented the Newsletter Report. The total expenses for last year were $2,522.00. Total donations, including the balance from the previous year, were $1,987.03. Out of pocket expenses for Marie were $644.97, which includes $110.00 additional expenses not posted in the report. Motion was made and approved to accept the Newsletter Expense Report, including the $644.97 for Marie's additional expenses.

Marie asked folks to send items of interest to her to be put in the newsletter. She also requested folks provide her with their correct address, even if they move next door.

11. Genealogist Reports:

Lesley Shockey: Most of the data base has been recovered and back up to full speed. Information was lost last year on his computer due to computer problems. Many folks have signed up to receive Shockey genealogy information but a lot of the addresses are rejected. If anyone is not receiving this information, resend your current e-mail address to Les.

Bud Roseberry: Whenever information is sent for the genealogy records, he would appreciate it if folks would also send where their information came from. This would be used in the event there is a conflict in things such as birthdays or deaths. Reliable sources are death or birth certificates. He is in the process of combining several data bases in to the Shockey data base and in the process, trying to eliminate duplicates.

Gerald Shockey: Continues to work on getting the information in Ralph and Marie Shockey's red books put into the data base.

12. Marie Shockey gave the Shockeyville Church Report. Scott Luttrell reported the church was having a difficult time since it is now self supporting. The bills have been paid up to date. A fund has been set up so folks can donate to help take care of the grounds and there are some donations from the local community. Louvers were installed on the bell tower this year. There are no projected construction costs for the upcoming year. Looking forward to having the reunion at Shockeyville next year.

David Shockey commented that Shockeyville was a very interesting and historical part of the country, for those who have never been. Tours are conducted at some of the older Shockey homesites and locations where the Shockeys first arrived in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

13. OLD BUSINESS: Discussed the website and the recovery of lost information last year from the computer.

14. NEW BUSINESS:

- John D. Shockey submitted his resignation as Treasurer. He would like to remain as a board member. Donna J. Porter agreed to fill the Treasurer position. Motion was made and approved to accept John D. Shockey's resignation and to accept Donna J. Porter as the Treasurer.
- David L. Shockey thanked everyone for attending the reunion this year. He also expressed appreciation to Ralph and Marie Shockey for starting the annual reunion.

The group broke for a family photograph and for lunch.

15. After lunch, the attendees introduced themselves and told which Shockey branch they were from. It was interesting to see the family groups and lineage. The oldest Shockey in attendance was Lucy Koonce, 89 years old; the youngest in attendance was 8 month old Landon Shockey.

16. At best count, there were about 105 people in attendance and they were from many parts of the country. Mentioned were Hal Shockey and other cousins who live in Canada; unfortunately they were unable to be with us this year.
17. Marie Shockey asked that anyone over the age of 100 send their names to her.
18. David F. Shockey requested folks go into the website when it gets back up and running. Keep Les, Bud, or Gerald informed of family updates so the information is kept current.
19. With no other matters for discussion, motion was made, seconded, and approved that the meeting be adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

/signed/

Donna P. Shockey
Secretary

February 26, 2006

The members of Shockeyville United Methodist Church hope you and your families have had a good year. Our small group has had a successful year. We have met and paid our apportionments to the church. All of our bills including fire and liability insurance are paid in full.

Our maintenance goals for this year are to replace the carpet on the church porch and do some more work in the bell tower to make the bell more secure. The carpet has been purchased and we are waiting for warm weather to get it installed.

This Summer we have planned to have four to six yard sales to raise money for projects and to make more people aware of our church. We are pleased to have Rev. Isaac Luttrell as our minister for the coming year.

All of us are looking forward to the return of the Shockey Reunion this year.

Yours in God's Love,
Scott S. Luttrell

Hello Shockey cousins. As another year has come and gone much quicker than what they should. It seems as though it was a very short time ago that we were visiting with the many relatives who attended the Hot Springs, AR reunion. It was nice meeting so many "new" cousins and seeing the regulars again. The turnout for the reunion was very good and I think everyone appreciated the job that David, Jack and Phyllis did in hosting the reunion.

Naomi and I both continue to struggle with various health problems. We greatly appreciate the prayers and well wishes from family and friends. Tests show that the repair to my aorta aneurysm was successful and the size of the aneurysm has decreased by over ten percent. The bad news of the six month check was that the blood flow to my right kidney had been drastically reduced causing it to atrophy. This explained the sudden major increase and wild swings in my blood pressure and perhaps the major swelling in both legs. I do not care for the side effects of the blood pressure medicine that I had to start taking as a result nor do I care for the hassle of having to wear the 30/40 compression support hose. The other medical problem is now having to deal with poly neurophy. The severity of this seems to vary from day to day or minute to minute. The many tests to determine the cause appear to have eliminated the various causes that can be treated. The fact that Naomi continues to stress out over my problems as well as many other peoples problems has resulted in the diabetes becoming much more difficult to control. However new medicines seem to have helped both her knee and ankle problem.

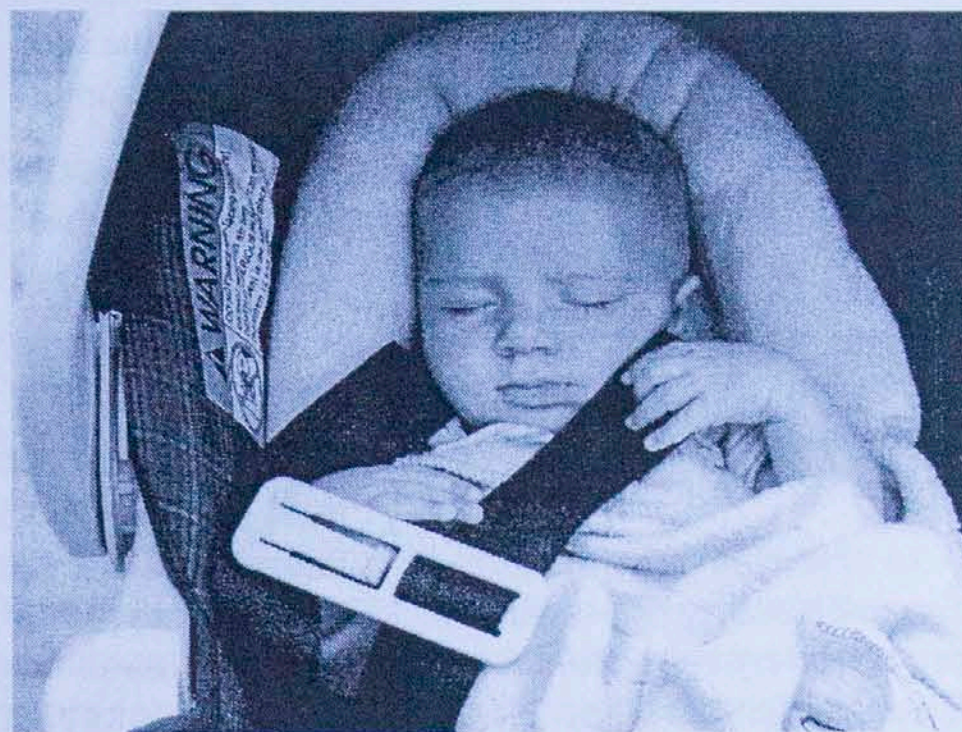

The health problems have also affected my working with the computer and preventing me from doing as much genealogy work accomplished as I had hoped for this past year and a half. The number of days spent in doctor's offices or going to various hospitals for tests seem to have taken a major amount of valuable time. I still have not found a way to do much work with the computer and still keep my legs elevated above my heart for amount of time that Dr. Hamrick says is required each day. Maybe a large flat screen monitor suspended from the ceiling would be the answer. <Grin>

I am inserting this as a further update on my health. On February 27th I was taken to the Medical Department at work. They had the plant EMTs transfer me to Jackson General Hospital with a possible heart attack. After a few hours in the E.R. I was then transferred to Pleasant Valley Hospital as the ICCU units at Jackson General Hospital and Charleston Area Medical Center were all full. After three days of tests I was sent home to rest. So far the results of the stress tests and the EKGs look good. I will be off from work for a while "taking it easy."

There has been some good news since I wrote the article for last years newsletter. In April my first great granddaughter, Kailey, was born to Danielle and Mark.

In late June while in Hot Springs, AR for the reunion, Charles and Amy had a second son. This one was named Michael. Naomi and I stopped on our way back home to see the newest grandson and the proud parents as well as getting to see the other grandchildren.

In December another granddaughter was added when Lois and Mark had a daughter they named Logan.

She had lots of brown hair and those big dark brown eyes that are so common in our family. She was 20 inches long and weighed 7 pounds and 2.5 ounces. Nolan and Dylan both seem very happy to have a little sister.

With the new grandchildren living about a four hour drive sway, Naomi and I are not getting to spoil them as much as we might do otherwise.

Shockey Database

With several having problems with the test CDs of the Shockey Family database, the suggestion was made at this past years reunion by members of the Board that we would look into the option of placing the database online but privatized so as not to show facts on living people. One drawback to this is the many who have actually died but we were never sent the information on would not show up until sufficient time has passed to feel that it is most likely that they are not still living.

Hopefully we can have the database on line soon and when we do, an announcement will be made on the Shockey-L e-mail list.

These Old Hands

These old hands are rough and ugly,
These old hands are not for show.
These old hands have mended fences
And plowed many a long, long row.

These old hands have picked the cotton,
These old hands have gathered corn,
These old hands have shucked the fodder
Now dark from early morn.

When I'm asked to cross the river
From which there is no return
These old hands and I are going to the Rest that we have earned.

Good-bye, world, I hate to leave you
And the ones I love so dear,
It may be that you can't see me,
But I'll be forever near.

These old hands, so rough and ugly
Have tended well the ones I love,
And now I see the gate is open ~
We are going now to our home above.

Piece of Mind

Christmas Baby

by Marie Shockey

The first Christmas that I remember, I was 4 years old. I remember that I got a doll and a red chair. My brother got a red teddy bear and a truck.

We were so engrossed in our new toys that we didn't think it was strange that the only adult in the room with us was our grandfather.

The next thing I remember was the family doctor came into the room and said "Merry Christmas children, I just brought you a baby sister."

Daddy came in and took us into Mom's room to see the baby. I remember thinking that he should have brought us one that was big enough to play with, so I went back to play with my doll.

Christmas was always an exciting, wonderful time of the year. Even when the Depression came along, there was always a toy for each child and some candy and an orange.

The two local churches would have a Christmas program when all of the children said a recitation and the congregation sang Christmas carols.

There was a Christmas tree and under it was a bag of candy and an orange for every person attending. I think some came just for the candy and orange. Most people didn't have money to buy things like that, and I doubt if some of them ever had an orange except at Christmas.

Even though money was scarce, we always had a wonderful Christmas dinner. We would have a home-cured ham and fried oysters along with everything else. There was always a fresh coconut cake and I can still remember the spicy aroma of mince pies baking on Christmas Eve.

My "Christmas Sister" was younger than I, so we didn't play together all that much, but we had a lot in common. We loved school and cried when we had to miss a day. We liked to cook and sew and read books.

We call each other almost daily. If laughter is good for people, we should be in excellent health! I just hope nobody ever listens in on our conversations.

She always felt cheated because her birthday was on Christmas and it was sort of ignored with all of the holiday celebrations. But in fact, she shares her birthday with the most famous birth of all, the birth of Jesus, the real reason for Christmas.

Marie Shockey is a Berkeley Springs, W.Va., resident.

Everyone is familiar with Katrina and the damage, destruction, and death caused by the Category 5 hurricane. Katrina's strength roared through Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama on August 29, 2005. As we watched on TV the horror of what was happening to these areas, little did we know the extent of the damage. The storm left thousands of people homeless, in despair, and separated from family.

I work for the Department of Interior, Bureau of Reclamation. When our office received a call for volunteers to assist with the Katrina cleanup, I felt the urgency to go and provide whatever assistance that was necessary to my southern neighbors. I grew up in Tennessee and spent much of my life in the south, including two years in Mississippi.

I immediately signed up as a volunteer and was assigned to a team, being deployed to Hattiesburg, MS. There was never a question in my mind about whether I should volunteer, even when I saw the photos of tent city and read about the less desirable living conditions. So armed with insect repellent, steel toed boots, and a lot of determination, I headed off to Mississippi. I had no fear or even thought about the potential adverse conditions or the job that I would be assigned to do.

My team worked in the Blue Roof Program which installed blue plastic as a temporary fix until the roof could be permanently repaired. There were different stages of the process, from the homeowner completing a Right of Entry form to measuring the final amount of roofing material used. Our area consisted of 19 counties and we were given our assignment each morning, as well as being paired with another person. We gathered our maps, routed the day's trip, and headed out. Some of the homes we serviced were remote and very difficult to locate. Many street signs were turned the wrong way, blown down, or even non-existent. Some of the homeowners who had relocated took their mailbox with them, leaving their old address on the box. This could really be confusing.

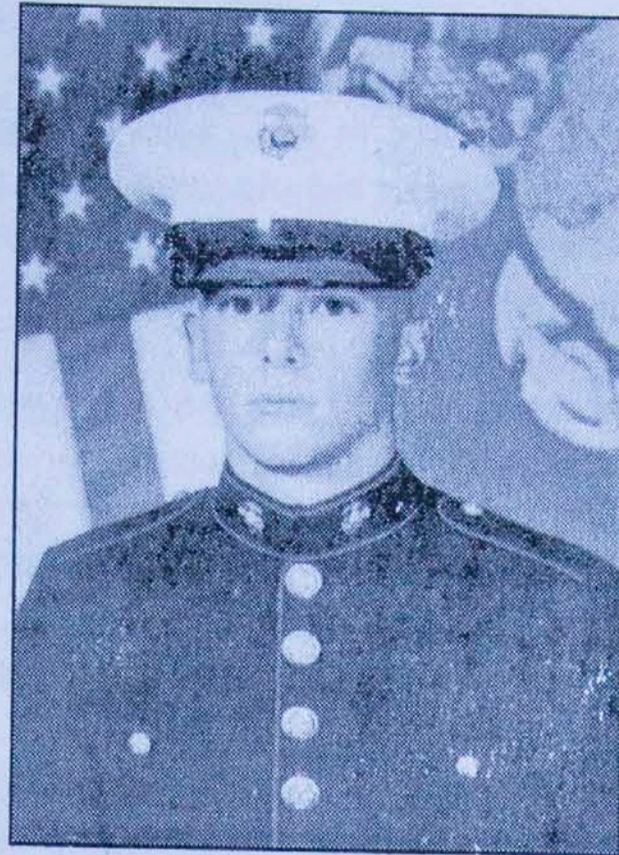

Many of the homeowners I encountered wanted to talk about their experiences during and after the storm. They were appreciative of our being there to help and amazed that we came from so many different parts of the country. All these folks have such a strong will and desire to rebuild their lives and continue on.

This was a very rewarding and memorable experience for me and I appreciate the opportunity to have been a part of the recovery effort. We should all be thankful for what we have, especially our family and friends. Let others know they can count on you in time of need. Also, we should continue to remember all those who were affected by the devastation caused by Hurricane Katrina.

The Maurer Story

Wayne Maurer has always loved hunting and his wife and children were interested in his hobby. Wayne was delighted to teach them how to hunt. Julie shot a small deer the first year.

Last fall proved to show what a good teacher Wayne was. Julie got her bow and arrow and took off on her bicycle to go to the timber. She left her bike at the side of the road and started walking through the timber. It wasn't long before she thought she heard a deer coming at her. She took aim and hit a big buck.! It was then that it dawned on her - how would she get this big boy home with just her bicycle? A few tears fell before she remembered her cell phone. She phoned Wayne and he told her he would be there in a half an hour. What a relief!

It didn't take long to track down the deer. It dropped by her bike. This prize deer was a 10 point buck, 185 pound field dresses and 18 inches wide. Wayne was as happy as she was with this big prize.

Now they are trying to decide who will teach Brendon to hunt.

On April 2, 2005, ten year old Sadie and Wayne were going on her first turkey hunt. The day was windy so they found a tree to protect them. The turkey calls did their job and in no time, they heard a turkey drumming. Shortly, a turkey came up to five feet of them and slowly started circling the tree. Every circle came closer but it was too close to shoot. By and by, "Mr. Goobler" must have tired of the game and started moving away. When he got about 20 ft away, Sadie shot him with her 20 gauge shot gun. This was a 23 pound bird with 7/8" spurs and a 10 # beard. Sadie was a proud lady when she brought that turkey home.

Hunting theme surrounds Forrest couple's wedding

By Peg Reynolds
Staff Writer

Many bridal couples want to make their wedding day special by incorporating items that are important to them. A Forrest couple did just that.

The bridegroom, an avid hunter, brought the wild outdoors to his wedding, showing his favorite past time from his wedding attire to the wedding cake.

Wayne Maurer and Julie Jenkins exchanged their vows out loud to their guests July 17, 2004, but the male attendants were sporting their personal camouflage outfits. All the male attendants' cummerbunds were custom made in camouflage material, which also included the bride's son, 5-year-old Brendan, who served as ringbearer. His sister, Sadie, 11, was in the traditional attire for a flower girl.

At the reception, guests saw more evidence of the hunter of the wedding party, at the base of the cake decorated with deer antlers. Other decorations at the reception, which was held at the Billet, Pontiac, included more antlers.

Maurer has shared his favorite hobby with his new family, as everyone has learned how to shoot. The new family has been bonding well, the bride said, as the children had given Maurer a Terry Redlin pocket knife for Father's Day last year, with the words "To Dad, love Brendan and Sadie" engraved on the present. The two youngsters had also presented a Valentine play to the bridal couple.

When he is not fulfilling his favorite pastime, Maurer is a bricklayer for Vissering Co., Streator.

Showing a bit of their humorous personalities, newly weds Wayne and Julie Maurer reversed their roles for a Halloween celebration, where Wayne was the 'bride' and Julie the 'bridegroom.' With them are Julie's children, Brendan and Sadie.

Wayne Maurer and Julie Jordan had a hunting theme to their wedding, depicting the bridegroom's favorite past time. Deer antlers adorned the bottom of the wedding cake. The bridegroom, his attendants, and ringbearer all wore custom-made camouflage cummerbunds under their tuxedos.

Trekkers reach city

By Jamie Komarnicki
of The StarPhoenix

A group of spunky Saskatchewan seniors trekking the length of the province to promote healthy living arrived in Saskatoon way ahead of schedule, says the walk organizer.

Cliff Shockey, 69, tramped into the city with five walkers Tuesday for a pit stop and rejuvenation session before they head for Regina Sunday.

Shockey organized the SaskWalk for Health to raise funds for health education and as a centennial celebration. He estimates they have less than one week of hiking days left before reaching their destination at the U.S. border south of Estevan, 1,572 kilometres from their starting point of Selwyn Lake.

A group of walkers start each morning around 7:30 and walk until 5 or 6 p.m. Although they thought they would average 50 kilometres a day, Shockey said they're covering around 80 kilometres. This is partly because of a relay system that involves multiple walkers and drop-off points with a vehicle.

Winter weather hasn't been a problem so far, he said.

"Sunny and cold, but not windy, so that's the main thing. As long as it's not windy you can walk when it's pretty cold."

He said he hopes the walk will start people thinking about the lifestyle they're living.

Shockey noted he was a little disappointed about the lack of donations to the cause so far, but hopes the seniors' pluck and determination while finishing the walk will have funds pouring in by the end of the line.

With their goal in sight, spirits are high, he said.

"My feet are really good, my legs are good, my knees are good, my hips are good. I feel like a young man right now," he said.

"I think maybe when I'm all done, I'm going to say, 'Hmm, I wouldn't mind one more.'"

Walk celebrates Sask. centennial

A group of seniors arriving in Regina on Tuesday were damp from the driving rain, but delighted with their progress in a 1,572-kilometre trek to promote fitness and celebrate the province's centennial.

Since mid-March, Saskwalk For Health members have portaged streams and slept in tents in -32 degree temperatures, so rain didn't dampen their spirits.

The Saskatoon-area seniors began their adventure March 9 when they drove to Black Lake.

"We hired three guides and three Ski-Doos, their sleighs and equipment," said Cliff Shockey, the group's 69-year-old spokesman who was wearing a Saskatchewan flag as an armband.

"It took us a full day to travel from Black Lake to Selwyn Lake, which is right close to the Northwest Territories border. There was no road, so we travelled over lakes, portaged between the lakes — the guides were super. They really knew the territory and they knew what they were doing."

When guides stepped off the snowmobiles, they were up to their waists in snow.

"They put their snowshoes on and tramped down all the snow where the two big tents were going to be," Shockey said.

"They cut all the spruce boughs and make floors for the tents and cut the poles for the tents."

The seniors applied for a $20,000 centennial grant to fund the walk.

"Medicare is in jeopardy of going broke, but nobody gets to the root of the problem, which is prevention of disease through a healthy lifestyle," Shockey said. "Our ancestors sacrificed a lot of themselves to set up what we have today. This is a good year to give something back to this good life that we're now enjoying."

Throughout their journey, the seniors use a relay system.

"We drop one walker off, we drive the vehicle ahead two kilometres, the person that is driving the vehicle gets

"I saw a wolf close to the road, some people saw caribou in the distance and lots of ptarmigans and quite a few partridges," Shockey said. "I feel like a young man. My feet don't hurt, my knees don't hurt, my hips don't hurt — I'll have a few stiff muscles, but that will go away in a few days."

Adults need to set a good example to youths who are increasingly obese and inactive, he said.

"If parents make some changes in their lives, the kids will pick up on the importance of living a healthy lifestyle," Shockey said.

not even a sandstorm

BY CHRISTY PAGANS

Neither sandstorms, nor night shifts, nor an Iraqi invasion could keep Tina Fonde and Jack Shockey from corresponding. Tina, who was stationed in Iraq for one year, received her first letter from Mr. Shockey shortly after crossing the Iraqi border in April 2003. Because of long shifts and horrible storms, she did not get a chance to respond until August 2003. That response was the beginning of a long and mutually beneficial relationship.

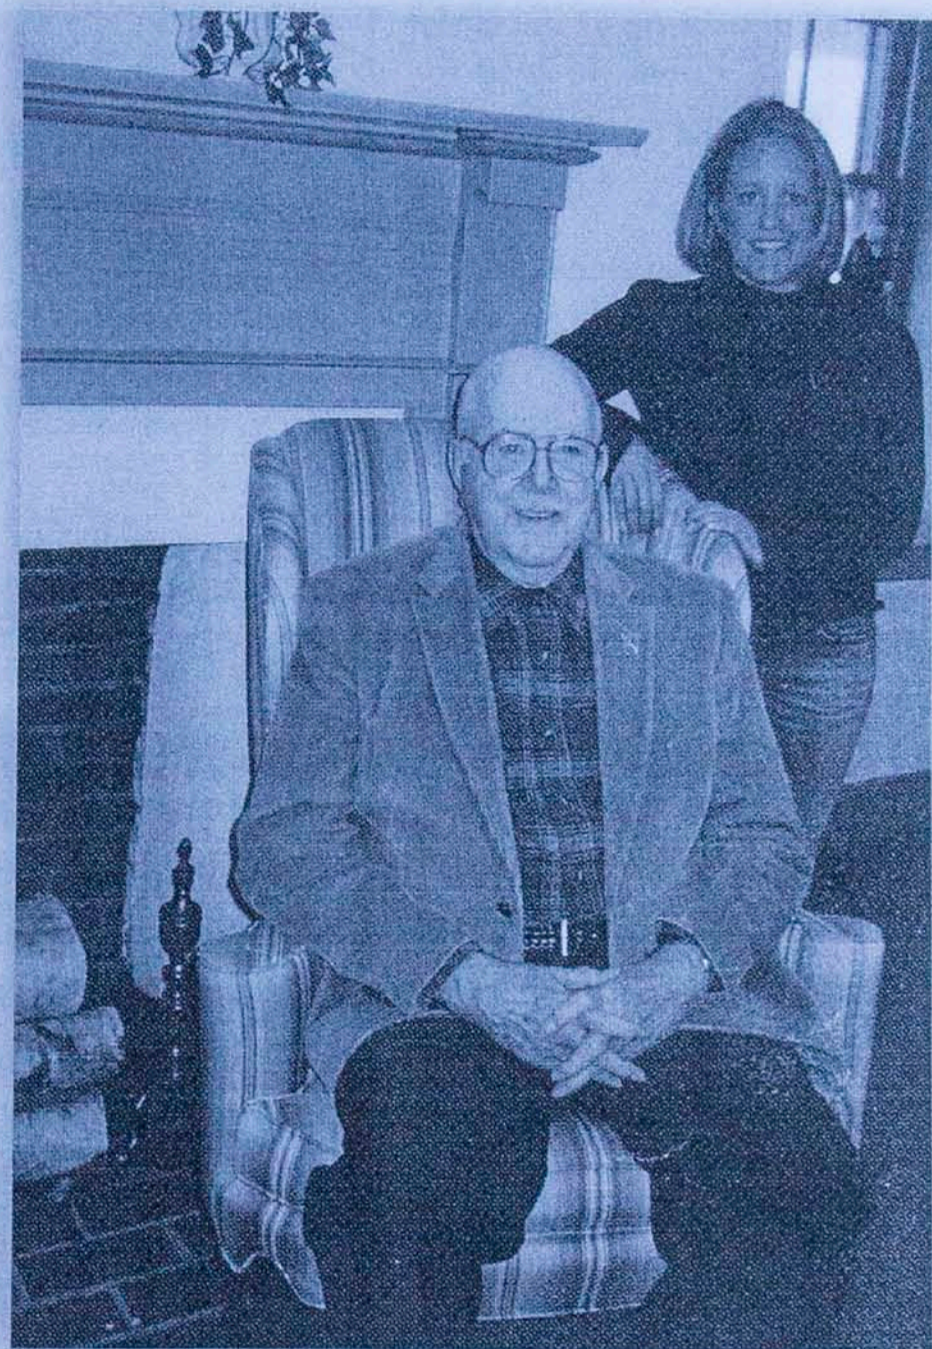

"It is very difficult for soldiers to find the time to write long letters," admits Tina. But she took the time to write to Jack because his first letter was "so detailed and personal." Jack related the details of his family life and wrote about his military service during WWII. Tina says, "His letter made me realize that we had a lot in common. It was also nice to hear about the experiences he had while in the military."

Jack, a resident of Attleboro Retirement Village, a continuing care retirement community (CCRC) in Langhorne, PA, was excited about the opportunity when fellow resident Grace Sullivan collected the addresses of soldiers and proposed that they write letters.

When he sat down to write his first letter, Jack simply wanted to offer encouragement. He never thought that the resulting relationship would become an inspiration to everyone at Attleboro. In fact, after waiting nearly six months, he really did not expect a response. When Tina's letter came, it was filled with personal stories and sincere thanks.

Jack explains, "I was in the service, so I knew a little about the life of a soldier, but things are so different now." He continues, "What Tina taught me was that what we were seeing on TV wasn't necessarily all that was happening in Iraq. We saw the fighting and the killing, but what Tina was proud of was the fact that they were helping to establish schools and power plants—rebuilding and really helping people."

Getting to know Mr. Shockey through his letters and emails helped keep Tina motivated. For her, it was nice to know that there was someone outside of her family—"an average American"—who was thinking about her. "It helped me realize that people back home really cared about us and that we were making a difference," she says.

Sharing his life experiences and the sense of community he feels at Attleboro with Tina was rewarding for Jack as well. Jack and his wife made the decision to move to Attleboro four years ago because they did not want to become a burden to their children. They had only been living in the community for a year when Mrs. Shockey was diagnosed with cancer. After a long battle, she passed away last year. While the grieving period was difficult, Mr. Shockey was thankful for the support he received from his fellow residents. He recalls, "Everyone helped me out however they could. We really are like one big family here, and I can't imagine having gone through that alone."

Despite the difficulties of the past year, Mr. Shockey has remained active and involved. He is always ready to return the favor of the residents at Attleboro by offering support to others—in the community or across the globe.

Since returning to the states, Tina has made it a point to keep in touch with Mr. Shockey. Jack has also formed a friendship with Tina's father, and Tina and her parents have visited him at Attleboro several times. Mr. Shockey now plans to write to Tina's brother, a Marine who recently began his second tour in Baghdad.

Hopefully, Jack's letters will let him know—as they did Tina—that our troops are never far from our minds. With a tattered letter in her pocket, Tina Fonde weathered countless storms—knowing that there was someone back home who cared enough to share his thoughts, his life, and, most importantly, his support. GRL

FRB Food Resource Bank

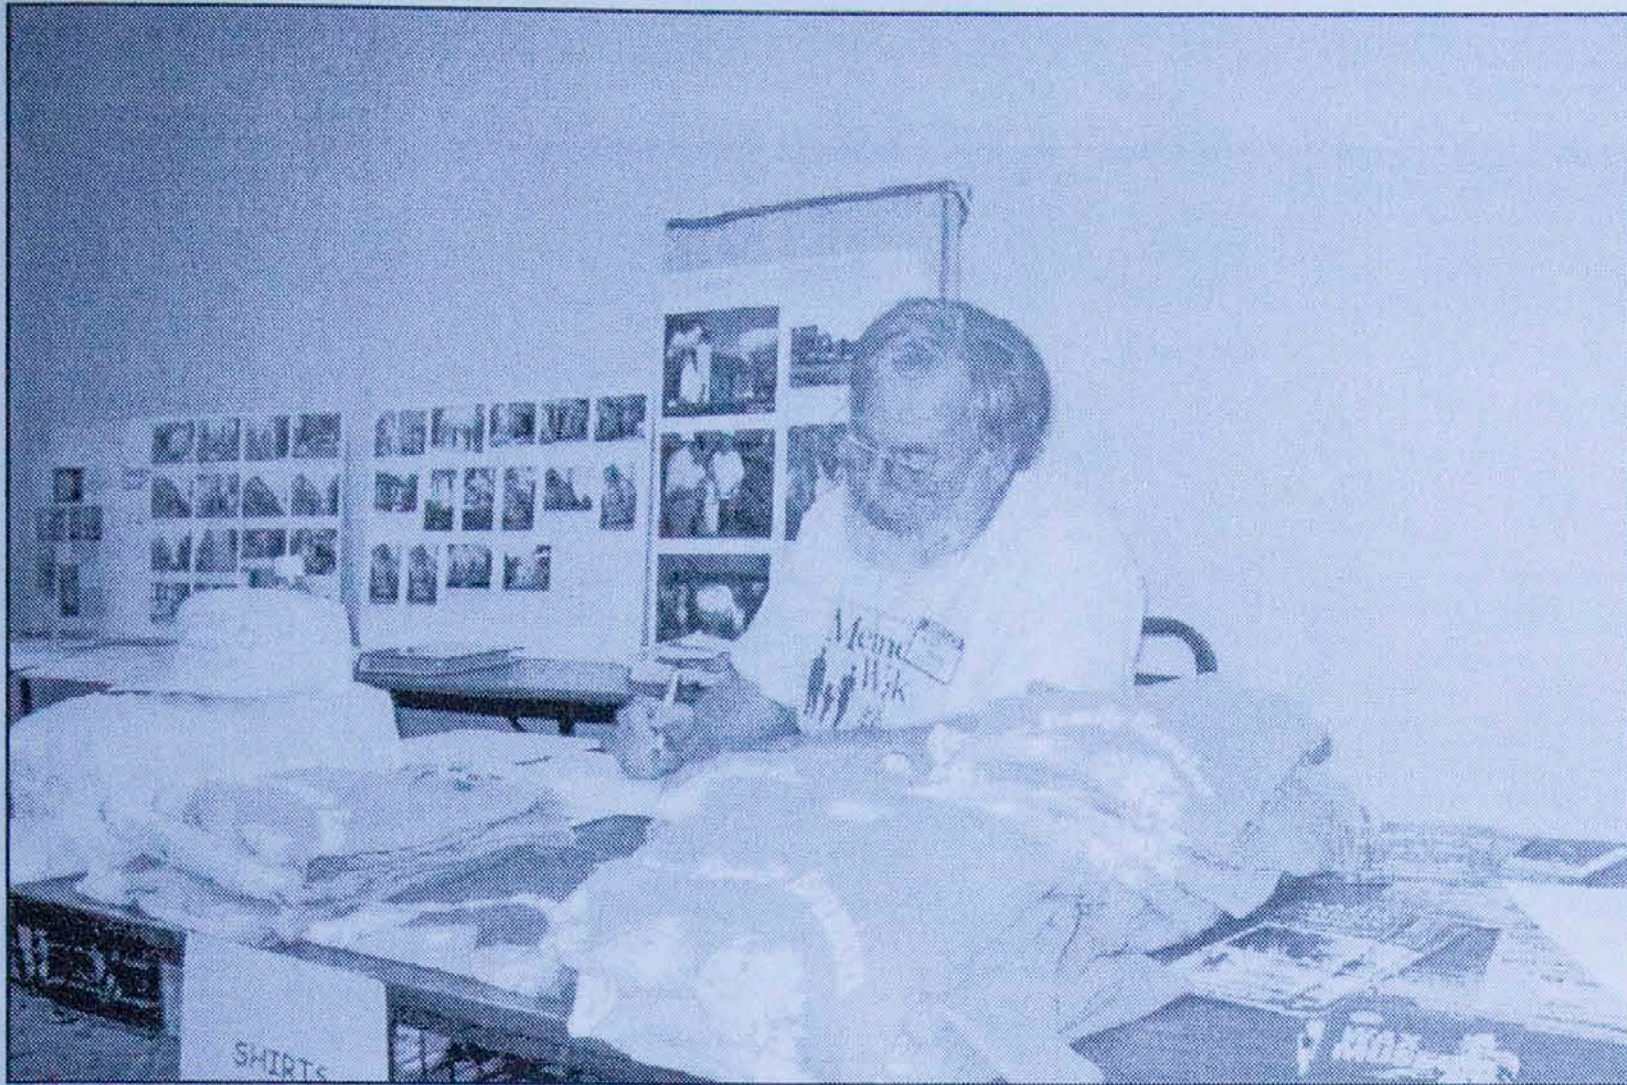

I would like to share with all of you a big project that our church plus two urban partners have been working on the last three years. In our parish, farmers donate an acre or more of corn and the city people support the expense help with whatever else is needed.

In the fall, we have a harvest celebration and all are invited. It is on a Sunday and we start with a church service out in the timber. Following the service, we have a pot luck lunch.

Then it is time for the harvest. Many of the people will ride the combine with the farmers for the first time. Hay rack rides are offered and a petting zoo. Some are learning to make apple cider. Others are trying to use an old corn sheller. It's just a lot of fun. Last year there were 400 people present.

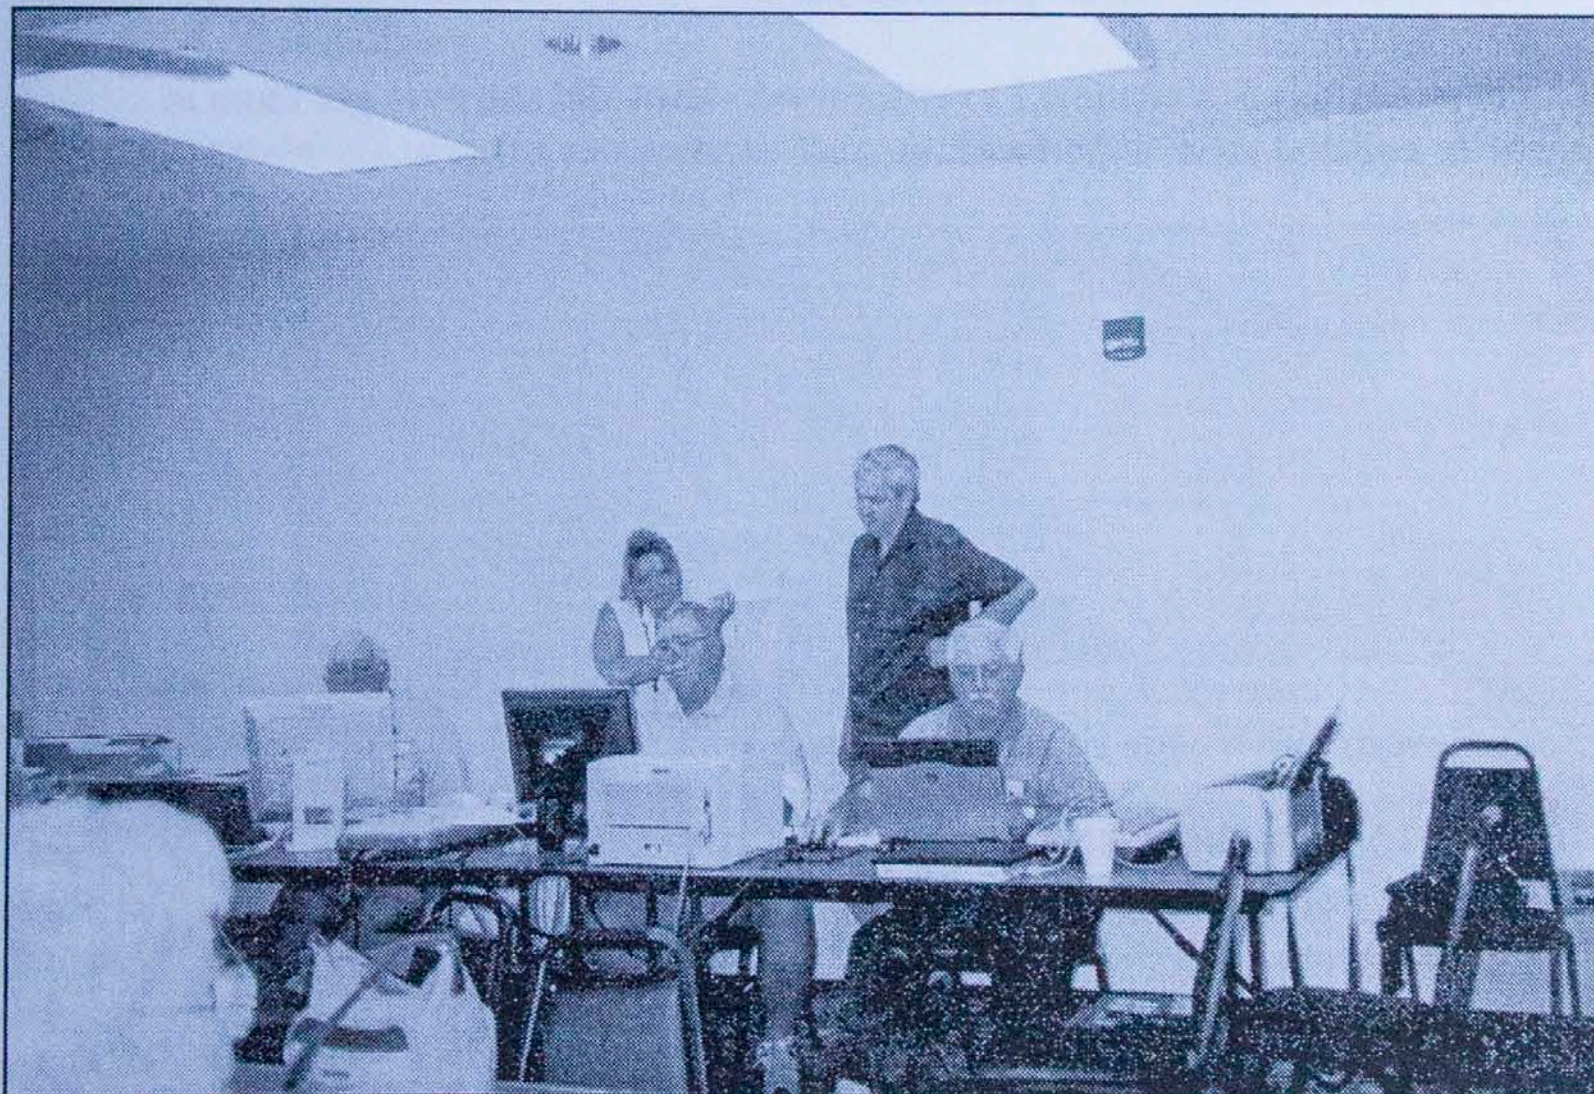

The corn is sold immediately. One hundred percent of the money generated of this community growing project goes to feed the hungry. No overhead is taken. The proceeds is given to FRB which supplies seeds, tools, drip irrigation, animals and instructions to local villagers, who work to creat gardens, wells, herds, etc. Last year, our money went to Zambis and Tanzanie. We raised $42,867.70 which was matched by the Federal government for a grand total of $85,735.40. We were a group of happy people!

Above: My great grandsons, Ales and Sawyer Blanchford and their lovely mother, I spent Christmas with them in Michigan.

Below: This is the nicest Valentine I ever received. How did she ever get them to sit so still and pose so perfect?

I don't know what all I may have forgotten to include in the letter so far. So here are some reminders:

Sunday Picnic Lunch: The cost is $10.00. Usually children five and under are free. It is being catered by Ramon's of Martinsburg, the same caterer that we have had for the past few years. Their food is good and all you can eat. I have not finalized the menu yet, but you will have fried chicken and roast beef, two or three vegetables, salads, cake, lemonade and iced tea. Let me know how many of your family are attending and their names. I really need for you to make payment in advance. If you find that you can not attend, I will refund your money. I need your reservations by June 20th.

If you plan to fly, I would suggest that you come to Dulles Airport, rent a car and drive to Winchester. It is about a 40 minute drive. You can take route 7 west to I-81, go south on I-81 to the route 50 east exit. The motel is right there.

I haven't been able to arrange a Bus Trip that I felt we could all afford and enjoy. We may just decide at the last minute where we would like to go and I will charter a bus.

Candy Hill Campground is a short drive from the motel. The address is 200 Ward Ave. It is on route 37 west of Winchester. Phone 1-540-662-8010. If you plan to come in a RV, you need to make your reservation early. I think that is the only campground.

Don't forget to bring your Reunion T-shirt and Caps. I will have more if you need another one or never had one. Bring your camera and plenty of film and be sure to wear comfortable shoes.

Bring any genealogy updates and pictures that you would like to have added to the Shockey Family Database. If you are searching for a link in your family, let me know and I will include it in the next newsletter. You never know where the answer lies.

There is a copy of The Shockey History and Genealogy available. Contact Diane Lunow, 485 County Rd. 1492, Wimberly, Texas 78676. Phone 713-623-4044 or e-mail to Dlunow@aol.com. She prefers phone or e-mail.

Keep your address current, send anything that you would like included in the next newsletter and please note that contributions to the Shockey Family Memorial Fellowship should be mailed to our new treasurer, Donna J. Porter, 1840 South Wolcott Ct. Denver, CO. 80219. Newsletter donations can still be sent to me.

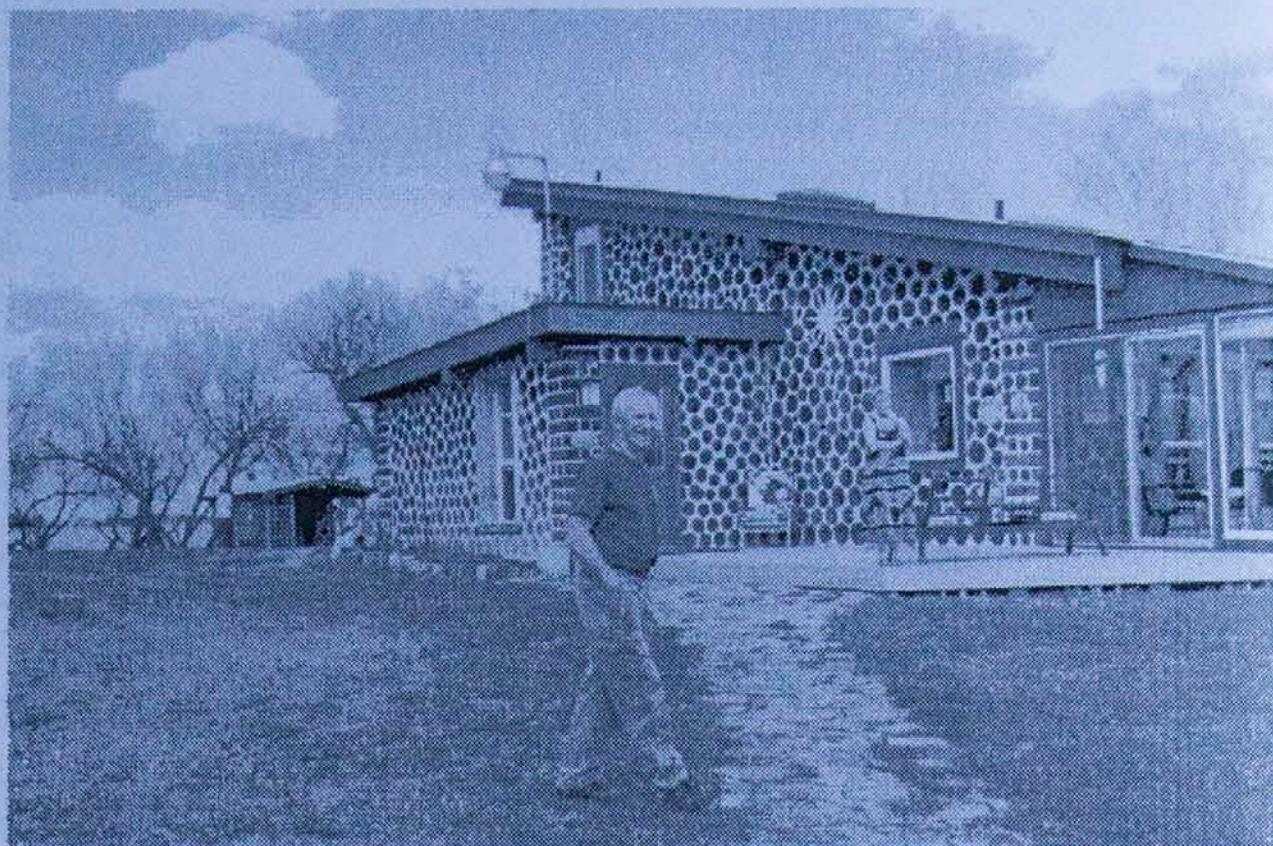

I hope I haven't forgotten anything important. At my age, you never know. If I have made any 'typos' that I didn't find, that is because I need another cataract removed and I don't read my computer screen very well. If you have any questions, you can call me or e-mail and I will get you an answer. I would love to see some of the new cousins that attended in Arkansas. I promise, you will have a wonderful time.

Piece of Mind

Memories of the Great Depression

by Marie Shockey

I was a very small child during the Great Depression, but there are some memories that have remained as vivid as if they had happened just recently.

I knew that we didn't have money and that most everyone else had little or none either.

My father was a carpenter and nobody had money to hire him, so he did odd jobs.

He cut corn, shucked corn, picked apples, dug ginseng and as fire warden of Clarke County, he traveled the area on a horse and nailed up 'Prevent Forest Fires' notices.

When hunting season came in, he and his neighbors went coon hunting.

He cured the pelts and sold them just before Christmas so we had new shoes and something for Christmas.

We grew almost all of our food. We had dozens of fruit trees, a garden, a cow, a couple of pigs and some chickens.

Very little came from the store, but everyone in the community ran a 'tab' there. Most of the meat we had was squirrels, rabbits, quail and a pheasant or wild turkey now and then. A balanced meal was probably an accident.

Then there were the less fortunate. Almost daily, people walked the road looking for work or food. One that stands out in my memory was a man and a woman with a small girl and a baby.

Their clothes were ragged and they were barefoot. We had no place to keep them, but we gave them some biscuits and directed them to some possible help.

Another one was a man who wanted to work for a meal. He didn't look strong enough to do anything, so we fed him. Mama made him wash his hands and face while she put food on the table.

There was a pitcher of milk, some butter, blackberry jam and a loaf of homemade bread. He just about ate it all! My brother and sister and I sat on the dining room floor and watched him eat.

We had never seen anyone so hungry. Daddy told us to "get out of there and leave that man alone," but I don't think he even knew we were there.

The drought in 1930 didn't help the situation either, but we struggled along until daddy got a job at the C.C.C. (Civilian Conservation Corps) Camp in Front Royal, where they were working on Skyline Drive.

He stayed Monday through Friday and came home on weekends. I don't know how much money he made, but I know that every payday, he made a payment on his store bill.

I think he owed $123 and a few cents. In those days, that was a huge debt. I didn't realize until many years later, what a hard time we had been through and what an important part that little Frog-town Store had played in the lives of the people of that community.
